

Financial Assistance Plain Language Summary

RCH offers financial assistance that may cover all or part of a patient account balance(s) for all patients receiving Emergency treatment and non-emergent medically necessary health care services that meet the hospital's criteria for eligibility.

Any patient with a balance due related to health care received at RCH or any person responsible for paying a patient bill for health care received at RCH (guarantor) may request, receive, and submit for consideration an application for financial assistance.

Patients must meet the hospital's criteria in order to get financial assistance. Proven financial need, family income, family size and other resources determine if a patient can receive a discount on the account balance that is due. Those at 200% or less of the poverty guidelines can receive a 100% discount. Other financial assistance may be available under special circumstances.

Patients who get financial assistance cannot be charged more than amounts generally billed for emergency or other non-emergent medically necessary health care from Roseland Community Hospital and/or will be charged less than gross charges for any other care eligible for financial assistance.
